

Change a life. Continue a legacy.

Our world is a tough place – especially for young people. Violence is piped into our homes daily via the radio, television and internet. Terrorist threats steal the joy of childhood. And destructive temptations battle for their souls at younger and younger ages. The need is real; the opportunity is great. Now more than ever, children need the hope and stability of Christ in their lives. You can help by making a generous, sacrificial commitment. With your support, Cascades can continue our legacy of providing a safe haven for boys, girls, men and women who need to establish a relationship with Christ.

Rarely is there an opportunity for such a fruitful investment.

Of the 1,000 Cascades campers in attendance last year, fully one-third reported making significant spiritual decisions during their stay. There are few tools available to the church today that have that kind of impact. Each time a child doesn't enroll because of financial need, a precious opportunity is lost. Your support will allow more kids each year to hear the good news of Christ. Please help us continue God's work at Cascades by supporting these two important projects.

Cascades Camp and Conference Center Director

"My daughter had such an amazing time at Rainier Kids Day Camp last year. My husband was deployed while she was there. She is generally shy, and develops great social anxiety when he is away. From the moment we arrived, the staff was so warm and made her feel very comfortable. She looked forward to camp every day following. The counselors allowed her to have a wonderful experience, which she will always remember. I was so grateful she had something to look forward to during such a hard time. She loved all of the activities (chapel was her favorite, she even showed me the beautiful outdoor setting) and picked up lots of new lively worship and camp songs. She'll be back again this year! Our family is so grateful for Cascades, so thank you!"
